FEATURED SONGS:

THE LABYRINTH OF SMELLS

A Pink Floyd parody of 'Wish You Were Here'

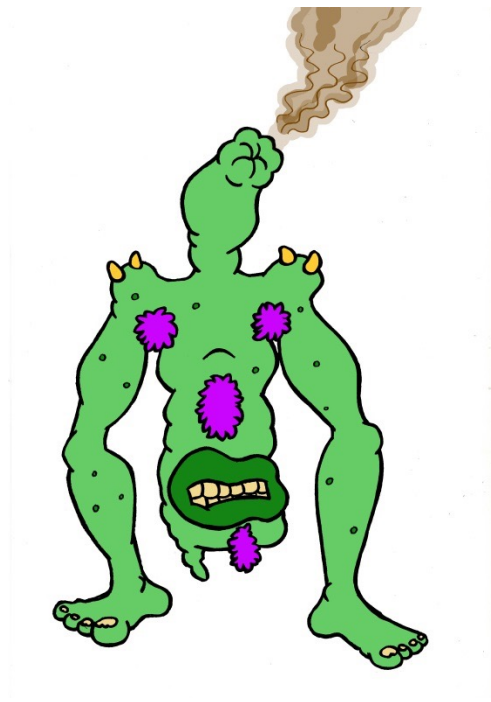

Episode begins with Billy being told by his boss to clean out that back of the food store. As he works his way through all the food he uncovers something so old and rotten he has to run through the restaurant holding it like a bomb. After he has thrown it (and it explodes) Tony orders Billy to go home because he reeks. Billy goes back to Bungus tower. Aunt Betty gives him a sniff and tells him he should get in the shower pronto, when he's gone she looks thoughtful, like she has an evil plan. Billy is in the shower lathering up when he is suddenly sucked into Bungusland. He lands in the mayor's office where all the gang are gathered and they instantly react to his foul odour, holding their noses saying he should take a shower, he tries to explain he was before he was sucked down the pipe. The gang take him to a spa to freshen up. Cue comedy sequence of a Bungusland spa.

We cut to The Crazy Professor and Bionic Crab in a rocky desert with a map. They are taking directions from Aunt Betty on a phone to a huge stone entrance hidden in a rock face. It is said to be the Labyrinth of Smells and within is a stench so bad they intend to use it to gain control of Bungusland. They open it and an awful stench is unleashed (as well as a burping sound). They both put on stink protectors that look like diving helmets and enter. The camera pans down and we see an ominous huge shadow creeping out.

We cut back to Billy and the gang having fun in a big hot pool. Suddenly the water turns green and there is a fog of stink all around everyone. A giant stinky creature looms in the horizon spreading funk and roaring (in a way that sounds suspiciously like a fart). It is the Stinkasaurus.

Billy and the gang all speculate as to what it is as they try to cover their noses (he puts a peg on Sea Cucumber Girls face end). Suddenly they notice the Deli Llama sat next to them in the spa. He explains that it is the Stinkasaurus and it is from the Labyrinth of smells, they must find the maze and sound the beacon at its centre to summon the beast back within. He also explains he is at the spa because there won't be time in this episode for Billy to go on a quest to find him and the maze so he thought he'd save him some time. Billy thanks him and sets off with Sea Cucumber Girl to find the Labyrinth of Smells. Prawn Paul, Emily and Gastronaut go to find the Lobsquitch to see if he can help at least contain the Stinkasaurus.

We cut to Billy and Sea Cucumber girl walking through a field of wilted flowers and creatures choking on the stench. They follow their noses to the Labyrinth and enter. A montage of different smell related maze situations occurs while the song 'THE LABYRINTH OF SMELLS' is played over the top. This involves them being chased by mouldy cheeses, stinking socks, cow pat like creatures...just loads of stinky fun. Song ends when Billy and Sea Cucumber Girl stumble upon Crazy Professor and Bionic Crab lying on the floor, woozy from the smells, their stink protectors are smashed. They explain that they made a mistake entering the maze. Billy is mad at them but says they need to work together.

We cut to Prawn Paul, Emily and Gastronomaut trying to help the Lobsquitch contain the Stinkasaurus as it rampages through Bungusland...they are all struggling with the infernal stench as it burps and farts it's way around.

The odd foursome eventually make it to the mazes centre and see a weird looking band on a podium warming up their instruments... Billy tells them they have to summon the Stinkasaurus. They tell him to jump on the guitar but warn him once the Stinkasaurus is in they will all be sealed in the labyrinth for ever. He says he is ready to make the sacrifice for Bungusland, he turns around and sees the Crazy Professor and Bionic Crab doing a runner. He shouts at them but nods to Sea Cucumber Girl, at least they will be together. They start playing a parody of 'Wish You Were Here' by Pink Floyd with the band (Stink Floyd):

‘So you think you can tell,
A fish by its smell ?
A lump of old cheese.
Can you smell a fresh meal,
From old potato peels
Rancid old veal
Do you think you can smell?’

We cut to the Stinkasaurus in a battle with the Lobsquitch...it hears the song and heads back to the Labyrinth. As soon as it enters the maze the whole place starts to shake and the gigantic stone doors start to slowly close. Billy says there is still a chance, grabs Sea Cucumber Girl and uses his guitar as a surf board and starts surfing through the mouldy stinky items as they fall in waves. They manage to get through the door as it seals burying them in a heap of stinky rubbish. They pop their heads out of the gunk and smile at each other. They did it! Once again Billy realises he is going to be late for work.

Billy arrives at work in the nick of time as Tony is standing there waiting impatiently for him. He is about to admonish him when he realises how much he stinks...Billy hasn't had a chance to shower after the labyrinth! Billy is told, since he smells so bad, he can take out the bins. Billy is seen carrying the over filled fish heads to the dump, he trips and ends up covered in the stinky gunk.
